As a Senior Full Stack Developer, I have extensive experience in designing, developing, and deploying complex web applications and software systems. With a strong background in both front-end and back-end technologies, I am proficient in working with various programming languages, databases, and frameworks. My expertise includes proficiency in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and popular front-end frameworks such as React, Angular, and Vue.js. I am also experienced in server-side programming languages such as Node.js, PHP, and Python, and have worked extensively with databases like MySQL, MongoDB, and PostgreSQL. In my previous roles, I have led teams of developers, collaborated with product managers, designers, and other stakeholders to ensure the timely and successful delivery of high-quality software products. I am experienced in Agile methodologies and have strong project management skills.
